SUPERFUND PROGRAM
MANAGEMENT BRANCH

RE: Himco Landfill (CR10) Elkhart, IN.

Dear Ms. Swales:

The information requested by your office on November 22, 1988, concerning the above landfill, is being answered to the best of our ability.

During the year in question, we regret there are no records still in existence concerning disposition of scrap materials. Our records are kept for only seven years. None of the managers from that time period are still employed by Textone-Woodtek, at this time. (I began employment with Textone in October of 1979.)

We did contact Himco to see if they still had load pick-up data, but they stated their records are only retained for three years. Himco did have a record of our being their customer since November of 1972.

According to Bruce Shoup of Himco, the CR10 landfill was closed in 1976. Woodtek-Textone is a manufacturer of custom wood cabinet doors to the RV industry. These are both solid and hollow core type. They require the usual machining of wood and plywood as well as finishing with lacquer base finishes.

Since approximately 1970, offices and manufacturing operations have been conducted at 1700-1706 W. Lusher Avenue. Prior to this, they were located in another part of Elkhart, IN.

Manufacturing processes:

1. Machining
2. Sanding
3. Assembly
4. Finishing
5. Packing/Shipping

2. General Wood and Plywood Scrap
3. Corrigated
4. Glue Rinse Water
5. Paint Dust
6. Waste Stains, Thinners and Lacquers
7. Floor Sweepings

Disposal Practices:      Non-Hazardous

1. Saw Dust:
  - A. Picked up by Mr. Ernest Martin of New paris, IN. (Used as bedding for farm animals)
2. General Wood, Plywood, Corrigated and Floor Sweepings:
  - A. Picked up by Himco, Inc. and disposed of in their own landfill on CR 26 in Elkhart, IN.
3. Glue Rinse Water: (Machine Cleanup)
  - A. This is disposed of into the city sewer system and goes to the EWWTP with their approval.

Disposal Practices:      Hazardous

1. Hazardous materials are presently brokered through Chem-Care, Inc. of Mishawaka, IN, and are sent to EWR of Coal City, IL, for recycleing or incineration. This includes waste paint, stain, thinner and paint dust. These materials are in secure containers and properly manifested. Both transporters and disposal facilities have U.S.-EPA ID numbers.

Records:

1. As mentioned before, records for the period of time, waste materials were sent to the Himco, CR-10 landfill have been disposed of as we only keep records for seven years. Himco does have the list that shows Textone-Woodtek was a customer since 1972.

To our knowledge, the only waste sent to this landfill was of the non-hazardous type; wood scrap, saw dust, corrigated, floor sweepings and etc.

1. Our number is 24-99.
